It would not have been possible to write this thesis without the help and support of the people around me. I am indebted to all of them however over here I would like to mention. God has been really kind to me in providing strength and love to move forward in this endeavor which has been full of crests and he has given me courage that enables me to face all the challenges during my research works.

It gives me great pleasure to acknowledge my indebtedness and profound sense of gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. H. R. Kataria, Prof. & Head, Department of Mathematics, Faculty of Science, The M. S. University of Baroda, Vadodara, Gujarat, India for not only portentious me the research problem but also for his eminent guidance, constant encouragement, constructive counselling, stimulating discussions, affectionate encouragement and keen inspiration throughout the course leading this investigation to a successful accomplishment. I am grateful to him particularly for his kindness, hospitality and understanding and for all the help and advice I have received from him not only related to the work but also on various aspects during the course of my investigations.

My thanks go to the entire faculty members and staff in Department of Mathematics for assistance in my Ph.D. study. I am highly indebted to them for being there. I cannot forget the cooperation and encouragement that I have always received from Shri Gopalbhai and other non-teaching staff of the department.

My special words of thanks should also go to Dr. R. K. Singh for his continuous support, guidance, cooperation, encouragement. He collaborated with me in research work. Also initially guided me in starting of my Ph.D. thesis work.

Very special thanks to my loving friends Mr. Akhil Mittal, Mr. Rakesh Darji, Mr. Rahul Mehta, Mr. Tushar Kulkarni, Mr. Jani Mrudul and his family members for helping me throughout my research work and providing insights.

I am also thankful to my colleague, Dr. B. M. Pandya, Dr. A. K. Adhikary, Mr. J. B. Patel, Mr. A. M. Vahora, Mr. S. N. Solanki and other faculty members for their love and friendly environment. They all were great encouragement to me.

I express my deepest sense of gratitude to my beloved parents Shri. Revabhai Patel and Smt. Madhuben Patel for their moral support, innocent love, unfailing patience, affectionate encouragement, kind co-operation and valuable blessings.

My heart felt regard goes to my father in-law, Shri. Rameshbhai Patel, mother in-law, Smt. Krishnaben Patel for their love and moral support.

Words are not enough to express my affectionate amiable thanks to my brother cum friends Nigam Patel and his family, my sisters, Asha Patel, Sonal Patel and her family, my sister in laws, Nitaben Patel, Shilpaben Patel and her family, my brother in law Haresh Patel and his family for their encouragement and unselfish commitment to support me; right from the registration till the successful completion of this journey.

Finally, Thanks to my better half, Meena for being always there for strengthening my confidence, constantly motivating me in all the situations, also my loving daughter, Prisha for being such a good kid for always cheering me up and her love provided me a great relief in the minor crisis of confidence. They both are the reason for this successful journey.

I am thankful to library staff and administrative staff of the Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara.

I am also indebted to all those researchers whose work (quoted in the bibliography) I have consulted.

Finally, my thanks go to all the people who have supported me directly or indirectly for my research works.
