
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are three things that each one of us must remember each and every single day of our lives - someone to look up to, someone to look forward to, and someone to give back to.

To Dr. Namrata Luhar, my research guide, counsellor, tutor, guru and mentor, all rolled in one, who I look up to every single day, who pushed me to stretch my imagination and my limits, who never lost faith in me, who sacrificed her own holidays and time for extending support when I needed it the most, who applauded and encouraged me when I did well, and when I did not, instilled confidence in me that I could do better, I say thank you.

To my parents, Dr. Pinaky Shah and Dr. Nilesh Shah, who are my support system and who provided the platform that I am so fortunate and grateful to have, my Nana, Nani, Dadi and my late Dadaji who taught me discipline and who is always in my thoughts, my cousins, the rest of my family and friends all of who are my strength, all of who motivate me to be a better human being every day, all of who never doubted my capabilities for even a second, all of who gave me the liberty and encouragement to live life on my own terms, who I look forward to coming back home to every day, I say thank you.

To the Baroda School of Legal Studies (BSLS), Faculty of Law, the Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, to the National University of Singapore (NUS), and my professors at BSLS and NUS, and to all those who have taught me in some way, I am forever indebted and I hope to be able to give back to, I say thank you.

I must particularly mention Dr. Umakanth Varottil at NUS, the only professor for whose class I would run two kilometres since I wouldn't want to miss a single minute. For all your precious knowledge that you agreed to impart and share, I shall forever be indebted, and I say thank you.

I shall always be grateful to the administrative staff at the Faculty of Law, the Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, for accommodating me and for extending all possible help whenever required. Without the assistance and support of Smt. Hansa Mehta Library, the library at the Faculty of Law, and access to the online resources of the National University of Singapore, this study would not have been possible. I extend my gratitude to the librarians and staff.

I must also acknowledge the encouragement I received from all the deans of the law faculty throughout my association with the faculty since 2009, starting from Dr. Ghanshyam Solanki, Dr. Archana Gadekar, Prof. R.C. Patel, Prof. Dr. Bhavna Mehta and Dr. Uma Iyer.

I cannot thank enough Mr. Sharvil Majmudar and Mr. Panthil Majmudar, advocates at the Gujarat High Court, and my bosses, for motivating me to complete my thesis and for extending all the resources at their disposal to aid me with my study. Without their support and understanding, completing the study in time would have been next to impossible.

I must also thank Mr. Percy Kavina and Mr. Shalin Mehta, senior advocates at the Gujarat High Court, for encouraging me constantly and appreciating my inclination to pursue a doctoral study whilst practising law in court.

I also thank Meghavi Kansara, Advocate, for extending her assistance and time to me when I was not able to focus on court cases.

Finally, I also thank my dear friends Harsimran, Rushabh, Arpit, Rishabh, Shreena and Anjali for constantly motivating me to complete my thesis so that they can see my face again!
