

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, I thank GOD, without whose guiding hand this thesis would not have been possible

I have no words to express my thanks and sincere gratitude to Dr. Anupama Shah, Ex-Head of, Department of Home Science Extension and Communication and former Dean of Faculty of Home Science, M.S University, Vadodara, for her inspiring guidance, personal interest in my efforts for grappling with the topic and regular enlightening and meaningful discussions relating to the treatment to be given to the subject under investigation. Its completion became a possibility only with the encouragement and constructive suggestions and unrelenting supervision of Dr Shah.

Sincere thanks are extended to Dr Uma Joshi, present Head of the Department of Home Science, Extension Education and Communication, for her kind administrative and academic support whenever required Her constant guidance in the form of suggestion and recommendations is appreciated greatly

I got tremendous moral support and numerous useful suggestions and hints from Dr. Anuradha Mattoo, in treating the topic, as she is also one of the experienced displaced members of the community I sincerely thank her for giving the support wherever required.

I cannot but feel obliged to the committee of experts that fashioned and validated the tools of my survey and also the suggestions that proved extremely helpful during the course of my survey at Jammu.

I take this opportunity to convey thanks to the teachers of the Department for their encouragement and support during the period of my study.

The Relief Commissioner, Jammu and Kashmir Government, Jammu was kind enough to help me in reaching out to the zonal officers, who were helpful in providing the data about the displaced pandits. The zonal officers accompanied me during the process of my door-to-door collection and verification of data I sincerely thank them all, especially the camp commandants who despite their indigence were extremely hospitable

My sincere thanks to Mr. Ashok Koul, from the Relief organisation, who was also a camp commandant GSI Purkhoo, for furnishing the copies of the necessary data and documents concerning my study.

Thanks are given to all the respondents without whose cooperation the present study would have not been possible at all.

My thanks are due to the principals of camp schools, who assisted me in collecting enrollment figures about the displaced kashmiri students. Sincere thanks are offered to the camp school teachers for providing me the facts about the prevailing academic problems.

I am highly thankful to Dr. Inder Raina and his spouse Dr Ranjana Raina and all the other doctors and para-medical staff for their co-operation in providing me data about the patients coming to the dispensaries for medical aid and treatment

I am extremely thankful to Prof. M. L. Koul, who has authored two books on Kashmiri pandits, their history and exodus, for his precious suggestions and corrections in the introductory chapter of my work. He was kind enough to provide me photographs that have relevance to my work.

Prof.P.N.Handoo, Ex-Head, Department of Geology, G.G M. Science College, Jammu (Camp) made his car available to me during the days of survey in the camps. I feel highly obliged for his help, concern, and goodwill.

I am equally thankful to Mr Vinod Pandita, who was a resident of Muthi and had the courtesy to accompany me to contact the camp dwellers in extremely hot weather. I feel highly obliged to Mr. Vinod Koul, Mr. Sanjay Pandita, Mr. Sanjay Zutshi and all those scholars from G G M Science College, Jammu (Camp), who lent me tremendous help in carrying out my data collection. That they carried the bundles of questionnaires was a laudable act of help and generosity.

I am all thanks to Dr. M. K. Teng, former Head of the Department of Political Science, University of Kashmir, Srinagar, for his valuable information about the socio-political and cultural impact of displacement on kashmiri pandits, now in camps and rented accommodation.

I am thankful to Dr. K. L. Choudhary, former Professor of Government Medical College, Srinagar for his valuable suggestions and information about the types of diseases and psychological trauma that the displaced community was prone to as a result of displacement.

Prof H. L. Misri also deserves my thanks for his precious suggestions regarding framing of the introductory chapter of my work.

I also thank Dr. Agnishekhar for the moral support that he lent to me during the course of my study. His information about the impact of displacement on the pandits was very valuable.

I would like to thank Mr. K.K. Hangloo, Ex-Director Agriculture, Srinagar, Kashmir for translating the tool into kashmiri language.

My sincere thanks to Mr. K. K. Bansal for his assiduous analysis of the statistical data and its consolidation into tables.

I thank the postgraduate students of the Political Science Department of University of Jammu, for the copies of the survey reports conducted by them quite tirelessly.

Dr. Ajay Chhangoo also deserves my thanks for locating the relevant review on the topic.

Mr. and Mrs. Vijay Raina provided me a protective shield in their capacity as my local guardians. The care and the support that the couple lent me during the course of study deserve a word of mention.

Dr. B. L. Raina and Mrs. B. L. Raina, were supportive of me. Thanks to them with all respect.

My thanks are also due to Miss Seema Boni and her parents, who lent me ample support at times, I was tense and homesick.

My dream came true only with the help of my parents especially my father, who not only inspired me to continue with studies at difficult times but overall helped me to reach the highest level of work.

My work became smoother after my marriage as more hands came into force. I would like to thank the Tiku family for the togetherness and encouragement, provided to me

I would like to appreciate my husband with whose help and support, I was able to finish my work. I would like to give a note of thanks to him for helping me in checking and rechecking my work, although all of this happened within one year of our marriage.

I am sincerely thankful to my Raju baiya and Preeti didi for being there with me

I am grateful to Mrs. Pereira for sparing her precious time for going through the entire script prior to the final printout.

Last but not least, I would like to thank Avinash, Aveesh, Menu, Bittu, Sunny, Lata, Sangeeta, Nazia, Rose and Amit for their patient listening and continuous help.
