

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I will cherish till eternity the journey that I commenced as a doctoral fellow. I got the golden opportunity to evolve during this phase as a researcher, which was guided by my Guru, Professor. Uma Iyer ma'am. Her faith, patience and learning from her is what has given this work its shape. I am grateful that she took me under her guidance. For all that I have learnt from her, it shall continue as a rich legacy in my future endeavours.

I convey my gratitude to Professor Pallavi Mehta ma'am, the then HOD of the Department of Foods and Nutrition, when I had joined to pursue doctorate.

I wish to acknowledge the contribution of Dr. Tushar Vaishnav for having conducted all the radiological examinations of my study subjects. Working with him broadened my horizons of data interpretation. I am thankful to Dr. Rumin Shah for allowing me to collect data from the patients visiting his clinic. I wish to thank the services rendered by Thyrocare for biochemical estimations.

I convey my gratefulness to University Grant Commission, New Delhi for providing Junior Research Fellowship and subsequently, Senior Research Fellowship as well.

I can never thank Vibha Munshi ma'am enough. She was the first one to have instilled in me the confidence to give doctorate a serious thought. She is a priceless teacher. My department has been and will always remain my second home. I am grateful to all the teachers who taught me at the under-graduate and post-graduate level, who laid the foundation of knowledge that can never be shaken. For those encouragements at accomplishing tasks that pumped me up, I thank Swati Dhruv ma'am for the same.

A mentor from the distant land that I wish to acknowledge is Dr. Richard Cash, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health. I learnt a lot from him in those few occasional meetings we have had.

My subjects' co-operation and commitment are the reason why this work is in existence today. I wish for all of them the best of health and wellness.

I wish to thank all my seniors and colleagues for making this journey a memorable one. However, Nitya di, Vijayta di, Meenu di, Aparna di and Swati di deserve a special mention for being the stress busters at work.

I wish to thank Mrs. Meenakshi Sutharia, at the office desk of Foods and Nutrition department, for being extremely helpful with the paperwork.

Needless to say I am grateful to my mother, Mrs. Hansa Roy, an ex-Geoscientist. The challenges she went through as a working mother and the sacrifices she made for me; whatever I do, it will never suffice for what she has done for me. Papa, Mr. Sandip Roy, has been more of a friend and my reserve fuel. Freedom, flexibility, support and that push to pursue the dreams is what I have got from him.

My maternal grandfather, Dr. L.D. Joshi, ex-HOD, Business Administration, Lucknow University, paternal grandfather, Mr. Subodh Kumar Roy, ex-Assistant Commissioner, Income Tax and later on Advocate Calcutta High Court, have set benchmarks of achievements that I wish to follow. My maternal grandmother, Mrs. Basanti Joshi, with each passing milestone, has been that supportive friend and an integral part of any endeavour that I have taken up.

My pillars of strength; Meenakshi, Anjana, Madhumita, Deepak, Shelly, Amrita, Utkarsh, Shweta, Michelle, Siddharth jiju, Shireen, Neha and Rachita have stood by me in the most turbulent of weathers to the best of times. I treasure them.

As a small little tribute from my end, I dedicate this work to the four legged children of God, especially to Jukjuk and Guchguch who keeps glowing like a sun everyday in my life. Butter, around whom my world revolves, has a special contribution. She would sit with me for nights together and her presence was my energy everytime I wanted to walk an extra mile with the work.
