

Acknowledgement

One of the joys of completing this work is to look over the journey and remember all the friends and family who have helped and supported me during this long but fulfilling road.

First and foremost, praises and thanks to the God, the Almighty, my Hanumanji for His showers of blessings throughout the journey of PhD and culminating it in the form of this priceless piece of work.

Words cannot express my feelings I have for my parents and family for their constant and unconditional support- both emotionally and financially all through these 5 years, 8 months and 3 days. I am extremely grateful to my parents, Mr. K. S. Somvanshi and Mrs. Sangeeta Singh Somvanshi, for their love, prayers, care, support and sacrifices for my education and preparing me for my future. Their efforts and patience were not less than mine that has been put up in completion of this work. My sincere and heartfelt thanks to my loving Brother, Mr. Ashish Kumar Singh and cheerful Sister-in-law, Mrs. Ruby Singh, for their constant source of strength and encouragement. My earnest thanks to my entire family- Dadaji, Dadiji, Nanaji, Nanaji, Mamaji, Mamiji and my cousins.

I offer my sincere gratitude to my guide, Dr. Suneeta Chandorkar, who has supported me throughout my PhD with her patience and knowledge whilst allowing me the room to work in my own way. I attribute the level of my doctoral dissertation to her encouragement and effort and without her this thesis would not have been completed or written. One simply could not wish for a better and friendly mentor. She was always there for me when I used to be stressed out and disappointed. Thank you for being so patient with me and teaching me to be calm and to ignore the irrelevant matters in and around the working environment. Thank you Ma'am once again for being a wonderful guide.

I take the opportunity for special thanks to our Head of the Department and Dean of the Faculty, Prof. Uma Iyer for guiding and supporting me. I am thankful for her guidance, invaluable constructive suggestions, deep insights that helped me at various stages of my research. I am sincerely grateful to her for sharing illuminating views on the issues related to my PhD work. She was always there as a supporting pillar in the Department whenever I felt weak and vulnerable.

I express my warm thanks to Prof. Pallavi Mehta, our former Head of the Department, under whose auspicious presence I got the opportunity to join the Department.

I extend my special thanks to Prof. Ravi Siddu, Head, Department of Home Science, Dayalbagh Educational Institute-Deemed University, Agra for instilling in me the aspiration to pursue PhD. Thanks a lot Ma'am for believing in me.

A very special thanks to my masters guide, Dr. Ritu P. Dubey, Allahabad Agricultural Institute-Deemed University, Allahabad for her constant encouragement and concern.

Thanks a lot to my school teachers at St. Clare's Sr. Sec. School, Agra for infusing in me the qualities of hard work, determination, perseverance and being fearless.

I am greatly thankful to Sonali for making me come to Baroda to pursue PhD in one of the most esteemed University of India. A very special thanks to Vidya Di for her sisterly love, care and concern for me. Thanks to Kavita Di and Chanchal Sir for guiding me in laboratory work and a force behind me as unofficial guides. My past and present roommates and hostel mates-Lintu, Anjali B., Surabhi, Anjali S., Nisha, Foram, Deepa and Prepsa, for sharing and making my stay in hostel worth cherishing. Thanks a lot to my PhD colleagues at the hostel, Renu and Somila Di for chit-chat sessions alongwith tea. Thanks a lot to Neha Vaidya, Aditi Joshi, Tasneem, Nishigandha, Priyanka Patil for being wonderful juniors. My special thanks to Mayaben and Indiraben for their support, encouragement and brainstorming sessions.

Thanksgiving cannot be completed without acknowledging Roshni, Yamee, Jagotta, Sulagna, Pandit, Prachi, Aparna Di and Kuhu for making my final year in the department so wonderful. I wish they would have happened to me from the beginning of my PhD. Their company always made me feel light and full of laughter and giggles.

I would like to extend my heartfelt thanks to my buddies Sunny 1 for always hearing me so patiently, Sunny 2 for making me realize that I should complete my work as quickly as possible, Geetika for always pushing me to work fast and giving ideas for improvement, Bhuppi for giving me lessons on life and making me feel proud of my work, Manoj, Arjun, Shipra, Parul, Vivek for showing their concern and remembering me so often and not letting me feel lonely.

My sincere thanks also goes to the entire Mathur family and Tauji, Shri. Ramakant Sharma, for their praises.

My earnest thanks to the efficient and cooperative staff of Food and Drugs Laboratory (FDL), Vadodara and Analytical and Environmental Services Laboratory (AESL) Laboratory GIDC, Vadodara for providing me off-campus support in laboratory work and permitting me to use their laboratory facilities.

I would like to acknowledge the financial support from the Gujarat Council of Science and Technology, Gandhinagar (GUJCOST) for partially funding my study.

Furthermore, I would also like to acknowledge with much appreciation the crucial role of the staff of the Department of Foods and Nutrition who helped throughout my doctoral work.

A big "Thank you!" also goes out to everyone who participated in this study as my subjects

Finally, my thanks goes to all the people who have supported me directly or indirectly to complete my research work.

With Warm Regards

Meenu Singh
