

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to thank my guide Prof. (Dr.) Jayrajsinh Jadeja without whose support this research thesis would be improbable. I have had the opportunity of being his student as an MBA aspirant and now as a Ph.D. candidate and these associations have changed my perspective and increased my knowledge. He has stood like a rock in support of my endeavours and I express my wholehearted gratitude for his guidance and indomitable spirit.

I have been lucky to pursue my doctorate from my alma mater, Faculty of Management Studies, of which I have many fond memories and which has been instrumental in shaping my career. I got my first job through campus placement in my final year MBA from this faculty and words are inadequate to express my gratitude.

I express my sincere thanks to the Prof. (Dr.) M.N. Parmar -DEAN, Faculty of Management Studies for providing support and cooperation. I am grateful to the staff members and library authorities at the faculty for providing prompt support and feedback.

I would also like to thank Prof. (Dr.) Kedar Shukla for providing valuable academic inputs and suggestions. I would like to thank Mr. Devang Kale for the support and guidance. I would like to thank all the professors who conducted various sessions under the Ph.D. Coursework which helped me understand the demands and expectations of this course.

I would also like to personally thank Retd. Prof. (Dr.) Shreedevi Xavier (Department of Sociology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda) and Prof. (Dr.) Kaushik Roy (IIM-C) for providing academic guidance.

I would like to thank my friend Ms. Aditi Pandey (CASE, Faculty of Education and Psychology) for always being there to provide answers to my many questions. Her valuable inputs have helped me significantly.

I would like to thank my family for their support and encouragement. Lastly, I thank my late grandfather R. Parthasarthy, who was always my champion and who would have been proud today.
