

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many people have lent support and help for the successful completion of this research. I take this opportunity to sincerely thank one and all who have made this happen.

My first and foremost gratitude is to my Randal Mataji, my Kuldeviji as she has shown me so many miracles during this study tenure. She has arranged all the things always and solved many problems for me.

Then, I would like express my deep and sincere gratitude to my research guide Dr. Leena Mehta, faculty of social work, The M.S. University of Baroda for motivating, encouraging and guiding me to make my dream come true. She has not been just a teacher for me but also been a friend and a mother. Since I was commuting from a distance place, she has always ensured for mysafety till I reached my home late at night. Not only that, she always took care of my lunch when I was with her for study. She was the person who showed faith in me and trusted me that I can do the research on sex workers when I myself was in doubt about my potential. I can never forget the day when she stood for me in front of the authority causing unreasonable delay in my registration process as a PhD scholar. I cannot repay the time, the energy and the knowledge which she has poured into me, throughout my life but my everyday's prayer will surely have her name.

I would like to thank Dr. Falguni Jani, my M.S.W. dissertation guide for hammering me to pursue PhD and for indentifying the perfect guide, for obtaining the No Objection Certificate for PhD when I was resigning from my job from Surat for the same. For guiding me through my thesis and for listening to my every problem and counseling me to continue the study. Her belief in me has brought me to the decided goal.

My deepest gratitude goes to my friend Dr. Anjana Vaidya who deserves loads of gratitude for helping me in completing this research. Each and every day, she has tolerated my tension, frustration, anger and what not. She is the person without whom I couldn't have reached to my goal of completing doctoral work. I may have left the PhD in between if she had not supported me. She has always solved my economic, administrative and personal problems. I know she loves me unconditionally and this degree of doctorate is purely dedicated to her, my best friend, philosopher and Guide.

I would like to thank the Dean, Head and all staff members of the Faculty of Social Work, The M.S. University of Baroda for all the support they provided. I appreciate the librarian Mr. Gandhi and Shri Madhukar Mahajan for procedural help.

My research required the support of the sex workers of Surat. I am grateful to Mr. Yashvant Valvi for going and convincing the sex workers for giving me the information. I would like to thank Ms. Meena Menon, the president of Sahyog Mahila Mandal for permitting me to go for data collection. Not only that she went personally to the sex worker's houses and requested them to give me the required information. I can never forget her kindness and love. Mr. Pankaj Kumar Chaudhary, Project Officer of Sahyog Mahila Mandal requires special gratitude for guiding me, for giving me all the information which I required. Not only that during my field work, he also arranged for tea and snacks every day on my behalf. Ayeshaben, Lakshmiben, Rekhaben, Hajraben and all staff members of Sahyog Mahila Mandal never made me feel like an outsider but always made me feel like one of the staff members of their Sahyog family.

I am thankful to my family as well as my friends who have always directly or indirectly supported me in my research.

I am thankful to my friend Mrs. Meghna Mehta for arranging my visits to Mumbai for field exposure, for library work, for attending conferences, for taking appointments from NGOs for my field work visits and coming with me everywhere, for translating their talks in English and for caring for me and arranging my stay in Mumbai.

I am also thankful to Hetalben Patel, ART Counselor at General Hospital Navsari for riding the bike and wandering here and there with me for the permission of data collection. I am thankful to Ms. Sneha Patel for always making me smile when I was stressed due to my research.

I am thankful to Mr. Anil Patel, HIV and TB officer in Navsari whose call had made my permission of data collection easy. Mr. Dhaval, HIV and TB officer, Surat must be thanked for granting the permission.

I am grateful to my friend Arpita and Ishita Shah for their support and their arrangement for my stay at their house in Baroda. I am thankful to Shobhanaben Sadhu and her daughter Dipika for bearing my books and pamphlets in the whole house during my stay at their place in Baroda.

I am thankful to Dr. S.D. Limberd, X-CDMO and Civil Surgeon, General Hospital Navsari and Mr. Avnish Dube, Incharge CDMO and Civil surgeon, General Hospital Navsari, for granting me leaves always. I am also thankful to Dr. Trushar Mehta, programme officer and ophthalmic surgeon for granting me on the spot leave for PhD research every time and Mr. V.S. Bhavsar for taking responsibility of my work in my absence.

I am thankful to my Neighbor Mrs. Jayaben Patel and Mr. Ravjibhai Patel for arranging my food when I worked for PhD and Special thanks to Mrs. Jayaben Patel for observing 'Manta' for my PhD Data Collection permission. Their son Chetan and Daughter-in-law Preeti have always helped me when I faced any obstacle due to computer related skills.

My Sisters Heena Chandrani and Sejal Vasani also require special gratitude for praying for me and my PhD every day.

Mrs. Sheetal Vala, a name which I cannot forget throughout my life. My completion of the thesis is due to her help. She helped me in proof reading. Ms. Jahnvi Andharia, my fellow research scholar working under Dr. Leena Mehta, was always willing to discuss and gave invaluable feedback. I thank her for the same.

I would like to thank my all teachers till date for believing in me trusting me and blessing me whenever they heard that I have been pursuing PhD. I cannot forget to thank my tuition partner Mr. Sumit Vadher and my students to adjust tuition timings when I was compelled to visit Baroda for PhD work.

Last but not the least; My Nephew Yash also requires gratitude as he always told that he would pray for me for my success. And my niece Kavya who is still waiting that her aunty will come to meet her after completing her study work.
