

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all who supported me in this journey of working on this thesis. I feel privileged to get this opportunity to pursue doctoral level study in the field of my interest. First and foremost, I would like to thank my research guide Dr. Leena Mehta for giving me this opportunity. She has always supported me starting from the stage of exploring about the area of study to the stage of writing my thesis. I have developed a deep respect for her depth of knowledge, professionalism and kindness. I will always be indebted to her contribution during my formative stage in academic career.

I would like to extend a very special thanks to Prof (Dr.) M. N. Parmar – Dean, Faculty of Social work, M. S. University of Baroda for his continuous support and encouragement. I am also grateful to following eminent academicians of Faculty of Social work for their expert suggestions at various stages of research: Dr. Jagdish Solanki, Dr. Chhaya Patel, Dr. Bhavna Mehta, Dr. Sunita Nambiar and Dr. Ankur Saxena. I would like to thank all the faculties and experts from M. S. University of Baroda who gave valuable insights during the course work and at various stages of research. I am also thankful to the Hansa Mehta Library, IRMA Library, Navrachana University library for providing knowledge resources for research.

I would like to convey my thanks to all my respondents to spare their valuable time and share very important insights without which my thesis would not have taken a shape. I am also grateful to Prof. (Dr.) Nirlesh Kothari – Dean, School of Business & Law, Navrachana University, Vadodara and the management of Navrachana University for their support in my research. I am also very thankful to my friends and colleagues Dr. Anitha, Chintan, Alpa Nida, Devayani for helping me at various stages. At last, I would like to thank my wife Yashshree and my parents for always being supportive and encouraging for my research.
