

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The completion of the present research project could not have been achieved unless the willing help from a number of people have come. The constant encouragement of the guide has helped the investigator to constantly remain on the proper track with enthusiasm. The feelings of gratitude for Dr. A. S. Patel, the guide, are beyond expression.

The investigator takes this opportunity to thank all the teachers and pupils of eighth class who co-operated whole heartedly at every stage of her work. She is also thankful to the colleagues and her students for helping her to complete the work. The nature of the work needed statistical help and consultations from time to time. I am highly thankful to all those who helped me in making the work statistically appropriate.
