

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The pursuit of knowledge, to understand, to analyze and form conclusions and theories from learning is intertwined in the human system and as long as humans are there on this planet the urge to move towards excellence shall remain. The desire to know makes one curious and perseverance coupled with diligence drives one to undertake research to satiate one's thirst for knowledge. For me research is not an end in itself but the process which churns and shapes an individual's thinking. I consider myself fortunate to do this study and as it culminates, I think of all those good human beings who held by hand and guided me towards my dream.

Firstly, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my Guide and Research Supervisor, respected Asst. Professor Dr. Priti V. Nigam who was ever willing to guide me as a student without whose support and encouragement, the milestones during the course of my journey would have never been possible. Words are insufficient to express my gratitude for all her moral support, words of wisdom, encouragement and invaluable constructive feedback aimed for improvement, which have been instrumental and a motivating source for the smooth conduct and completion of my research.

I would like to thank my Mentor, Former Honourable Vice-Chancellor, Professor Dr. Parimal H. Vyas for his support and despite his hectic schedule as a Vice-Chancellor, always motivated and encouraged my research & academic activities.
