

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I offer my deepest gratitude to Almighty whose benevolence has inspired me to submit this work of research.

This study has been the out growth of ideas initiated and inspired by Dr(Mrs) B.H.Elavia, R.B.I Professor and Head, Department of Banking and Business Finance, under whose supervision and guidance the work has been completed. I owe an enourmous debt of gratitude to my reverend guide, who not only supervised my work but had also been the main motivating force behind my efforts for the completion of this research study. In fact, this work is a testimony to the significant contribution she has made to the study.

My sincere thanks to Dr (Miss) Dhruvalata Bhatt for helping in various statistical problems. I am also grateful to Mr. Dilip Chelani, Mr. Zafar Alam and Mr. Sharad Bansal from Department of Banking and Business Finance for discussions on relevent issues during my study period. I am grateful to prof. A.G. Patel Dean Faculty of Commerce, Dr.M.D.Sharma, Professor of Banking and Business Finance, Dr.J.K.Syan, Reader in Department of Banking and Business Finance for encouraging me during the course of study. I am also thankful to Prof.K.N.Malhotra from Indian Institute of Foreign Trade, New Delhi for his suggestion regarding my research work.

I have been amply benefited by facilities made available to me at the Smt.Hansa Mehta library at M.S.University of Baroda, Indian Institute of Foreign Trade, New Delhi, Indian Banks Association, Bombay. I am grateful to librarians of the aforesaid liabraries for their kind help. My thanks to Mr.Nikitin Contractor of Business Data Processors Co., Baroda for expeditiously completing computerised typing of my desertation.

Lastly, a special word of thanks is required to be conveyed to my wife for giving me encouragement, inspirations, motivation and co-operation for this study.
