

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

With utmost faith and deepest gratitude, I thank the Almighty for blessing me and giving me strength during this long journey in my career. By the grace of God, I have been constantly supported by many strong people whom I would like to thank for their contributions, both directly and indirectly, to this thesis.

First and foremost, I would like to acknowledge my indebtedness and express my heartfelt gratitude and sincere regards to my guide Prof. Ketan R. Upadhyay, Head, Department of Accounting and Financial Management and Dean, Faculty of Commerce, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara, for his exceptional guidance and constant support and motivation. Without his proper guidance and blessing my efforts would not have been successful.

I also take this opportunity to thank Prof. Shirish Kulkarni, retired Vice-Chancellor of Sardar Patel University, Vallabh Vidyanagar for his blessings and expert advice.

I would also like to thank all the professors of the department for their cordial support in my research work.

I also wish to extend my sincere thanks to my principal and colleagues in Government Arts and Commerce College, Naswadi, for their constant support during my entire journey. Without their unwavering support completing this thesis would have been difficult.

I would also like to express my endless gratitude towards my parents who have been a constant strength behind my efforts. I am highly indebted to them for their love, blessings and faith in me.

Finally, I would like to thank my husband Dr. Arvind S. Mohite and both of my children, Prajakta and Amey for the sacrifices they have made to make my journey smooth and successful. They have been constant source of inspiration and strength; without them completing this research work would not have been possible.
