With the grace of GOD, I am able to submit my thesis this year. I could achieve this milestone with the help and support of various persons. I take this opportunity to thank everyone who has guided and supported me in either the academic, professional or personal front. I start by thanking the Almighty. I am grateful to him for everything that has happened in my life, both good and the not so good and also for enlightening me. I feel that all the things which happened had a purpose and were ultimately for my own good.

Moving forward, I would like to sincerely extend my gratitude to my guide Dr. Arun Basrur. In this journey he was my light house. He always directed the path which is best and ethical. I am sure I would not have completed this journey without his guidance and support. I am short of words to thank him. He has always motivated me to complete this journey and helped in each and every aspect of it in the best possible way. I will definitely remember his contribution throughout my life.

My co-guide Dr. Chetan Modi is another supportive figure in this journey. I would like to extend my heartfelt gratitude to him for his guidance and support throughout this journey. He has always been very supportive and motivated me to complete my work in stipulated time.

I am thankful to Prof. Deota, Dr. Bharambe and Prof. Murthy, who were also my teachers during my postgraduate studies, for their guidance and support. I thank Prof. Tandel, Dr. Rakesh Sharma, Dr. Ran Bahadur and other professors and staff at the Applied Chemistry department, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda for their support.

This submission would not have been completed without help of department' administrative staff. My sincere thanks to Mr. Parag Vaishnav, Mrs. Kamini Patel and Mrs. Bhavna Desai for their administrative support.

I am grateful to the Management of Sud-Chemie India Pvt. Ltd. (SCIL), especially Shri V. Sreedharan (VP Works) and Shri S. Prakash Babu (CEO) for graciously granting me permission to pursue my Ph.D. studies alongside my employment with the company. They supported this cause till completion. I am thankful to the Management of SCIL for permitting me to carry out all my research work at the company's R&D Centre where I work. I am thankful to various departments within the company for support extended to me, and to my Superiors and Colleagues at my workplace for accommodating my experimental work by way of sharing resources and through informal discussions.

My sincere thanks to Ravi Vitthalani and Dikin Patel for providing all the help as and when needed. I am also thankful to Urvi, Komal and Pratik for being there for any help.

My sincere thanks to HPCL Green R&D Centre, Bengaluru, for providing Raman spectra analysis of my research samples.

Last but not the least, I would like to thank my family, because without them I would not have dared to start this and without them nothing will end happily. My family, especially my parents, my husband and my brother had a vital role in motivating me to take this challenge while working full time. I cannot thank them enough for all the support they have given me during this journey. My parents always wanted me to be independent, happy and successful. They did their best for this. In raising me, in supporting me they have sacrificed a lot and have always encouraged me to move ahead in life. Many thanks to them. My soulmate, my husband who always wants me to raise my head and look up, takes more pride in my success than myself. Always gave me comfort and priority. I cannot thank him enough for being my best friend and providing me emotional and mental support and peace. Along with my parents and my husband there is one more person who was by my side although he stays miles away from me, my brother. His support, motivation and care I cannot express in words. I want to thank him for always being there when I wanted to express my feelings, for always being there to support me. I am also very much thankful to my sister-in-law who is now part of my family and like my sister. My uncle and aunt have also contributed equally in this respect. They took upon themselves some of my family responsibility to enable me to focus on my work. I cannot thank them enough. Enhancing my education would not have been possible without the support of my in-laws (Father-in-law, Mother-in-law and Brother-in-law). A big thank you to them for managing without me in times of need, understanding me and for supporting me in this journey. This passage would not have been completed without the support of a very important soul in my life, my beloved son Aarham, who is 7 years of age. He was very understanding and independent even at this tender age when it is difficult to comprehend what accommodative means. His calm and polite demeanor went a long way in supporting me. He is my happiness place. His presence takes away my tensions and sorrows. Finally, I would like to thank my niece who has come to our family and given us so much happiness.
