

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This research paper would not be complete without acknowledging and expressing gratitude to all those who have enabled me to reach this final stage of submission.

Firstly, I express my deepfelt gratitude to my research guide Dr Rajesh Kelkar, Head and Dean, Faculty of Performing Arts, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara; who has successfully steered my ship of research and anchored me to the final stage of submission. He has moulded my thought process and his critical reviews from time to time have provided me with the constant motivation and encouragement in every step of the path of research. He has always made himself available to clarify my doubts despite his very busy schedule. It is due to his able guidance that this paper has reached its final stage.

I am indebted to Dr Ajay Ashtaputre sir, the Ex-Dean, Faculty of Performing Arts, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara, for his academic and administrative support.

I am thankful to my own, Faculty of Performing Arts, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara. This is the institution which has nurtured, through the long years, a novice like me, and brought me to the submission of my thesis.

I am very much thankful to my co researchers Makrand ji, Bhumika and Shova for their cooperation and support right from day one till the day of presentation.

I also express my sincere thanks to Dr. Kedar Mukadam; Dr. Gaurang Bhavsar sir, Dr Ashwini Kumar Singh sir, Dr Trilok Mehra sir, Janak Jasakiya and my friend Dr Meghana Ashtaputre, Faculty of Performing Arts, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara, for helping me from time to time.

Last but not the least, I wish to express my deep-felt gratitude to my family members Shrimati Mangala Kolhatkar (Mother-in-Law), Shri Ajit Kolhatkar (Brother-in-Law), Mrs Nata Kolhatkar (Sister-in-Law), my sister Geeta and brother-in-law Sudhanshu. It is only because of their support and cooperation that, I am able to complete this research work. I cannot forget to thank my very intelligent elder brother-in-law late Shri Avinash Kolhatkar, who, in the middle of my research, demised for his onward journey. I thank my husband Uday and son Ameya. Their patience, support and encouragement during the endless hours of working for my research is laudable. A special thanks to my niece Dr Amruta and my hope, my future, my son Ameya, who extended much needed technical help from time to time.

I dedicate this work to my parents, who according to our Hindu Dharma are Deva, “Matru Devo bhava-Pitru Devo bhava”. They have been the main source of my motivation. My father, at the age of 72, joined music collage to learn Indian classical vocal. Unfortunately, soon after his admission to the collage, he left for the heavenly abode. He was good at playing harmonium. He had a keen interest in Indian classical vocal and knew the subject well. Since my childhood, he took me to many concerts, which imbibed in me the interest for music. My mother was a good singer who performed bhajans on various platforms. Hence, my parents engraved the sanskrit of music on me. Even though bedridden for many years, my mother's amazing will power and support sustained me to work on. Sadly, her journey on this earth ended in the final lap of my research work.

This dedication would be incomplete without laying blossoms of my devotion at the feet of Guru and God.
