

I

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is really difficult on the part of a research scholar to quantify the assistance he has obtained from his research supervisor in completing his research work. No formal expression can account for to what extent I am indebted to Dr.(Mrs) M.N. Shah, my research supervisor for her kind cooperation and guidance in completing this work.

No words can express my deepest sense of gratitude, love and respect to Professor V.N.Kothari, the godlike man who has left-lasting impressions on me. Acquaintance with him through my research work has enriched me immensely on several counts. As for my research work, it is he (the then Head of the Department) who has offered me the fellowship and assisted in all possible ways for carrying out research work and has been a constant source of encouragement and inspiration for completing the work ever since I joined the department. In spite of his serious illness towards the last stage of my work (when my research supervisor went abroad), he has taken a good deal of pains and suffering in correcting and finalising my chapters. He likes to suffer, but does not allow others to suffer. My head bows down and heart leaps up to express my gratefulness to this god-like learned professor.

I shall be ungrateful if I do not accord my sincere thanks to Prof.M.M. Dadi who has taught me econometric methods and their application into research work and rendered invaluable assistance to my research work whenever needed.

II

My gratefulness is also due to Prof. S.R.Hashim, the Head Department of Economics, who has given ungrudging help for completing my work.

I am extremely thankful to the innumerable officers and their assistants in Orissa who have helped me in collection of data. Specifically, I am grateful to Sri K.C.Parida, District Statistical Officer, Balasore, who has rightly advised me to collect data at the Community Development Block level right from the beginning. I am equally grateful to Sri C.R.Mohanty, Assistant Director, Directorate of Census operations, Orissa who has allowed me to collect data on 1981 census from the manuscript of District Census Handbook (Primary Census Abstract).

My thanks are also due to Dr. V.D.Shah, Dr.A.S.Sidhu and Dr. R.V.Dadivabhi, ex-teacher fellows and research scholars in the department for their valuable assistance through discussions to get rid of several difficult problems in regard to the research work. I am also thankful to my friend, Sri N.N.Kar, Teacher Fellow, CASE, for his unforgetful help in completing this work.

I cannot but remain thankful to Sri R.C.Biswal, my uncle Sri B.K.Mohapatra, a teacher-like colleague and Sri R.B.D.Kanango, my friend and colleague who have encouraged me to complete my research work. Sri Kanango has taken the trouble of looking into my problems in the college during my absence.

I am also thankful to my father-in-law, Sri U.K.Giri who has not only encouraged me to complete the work but also looked after my wife and children during my absence.