

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I acknowledge with great gratitude that many people have helped me in one way or the other in the preparation of this thesis.

I take this opportunity to express my profound gratitude to my guide Dr. K. S. Joseph, who has given me timely support, guidance and inspiration at various stages of this study. Without his constant help and guidance, it would not have been possible to complete this study.

I am extremely thankful to Dr. R. P. Jadeja, Director, H. M. Patel Institute of English, Training & Research, Vallabh-Vidyanagar, for allowing me to use a batch of students of 2001-2002 as the subjects of my study and getting necessary books for the study.

I am greatly indebted to Prof. S. Kumar, the Head, CASE and Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology, The M. S. University of Baroda, for his valuable suggestions and guidance in the early stage of this study.

I am thankful to all the experts of Centre of Advanced Study in Education (CASE), especially Prof. D. R. Goel, Dr. V. D. Thomas and Dr. R. G. Kothari (presently Vice-Chancellor, Vir Narmad South Gujarat University) for their support and encouragement.

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to the former Principal Mr. Bhanubhai Suthar of M. U. Patel Technical High School, Vallabh-

Vidyanagar for allowing me to conduct my study in his school and allotting me classes VIII and IX for the experiment.

I am also thankful to the teachers of English, M/s. S. P. Chauhan, Kantilal Valand, D. R. Chaudhary and Ambalal Vankar of M. U. Patel Technical High School, Vallabh-Vidyanagar, for working as cooperating teachers.

I wish to thank students of Classes VIII & IX of the same school, who helped me to conduct this study.

I am also thankful to all the 13 B. Ed. (English) teacher trainees of 2001-02 batch of H. M. Patel Institute of English Training & Research who conducted the experiment.

I wish to thank the librarians of CASE library, Hansa Mehta library, The M. S. University of Baroda, CIEFL library, Hyderabad, and H. M. Patel Institute of English, Training and Research library for helping me in getting relevant books for my study.

I am also thankful to my wife Mrs. Molly Jacob and my children Alex, Sheeba and Sherin for their constant encouragement and support.

Last but not the least I like to express my gratitude to Mr. Jayprakash Joshi in helping me in the statistical analysis of the data collected and typing the thesis meticulously. I also thank Mrs. Mayuri Patel for typing Volume II of this thesis in a meticulous manner.
