

A C K N O W L E D G E M E N T S

I wish to express my sincere and deep sense of gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Ranu V. Vanikar for developing in me an analytical frame of mind, for stimulating my thinking, exploring, clarifying and shaping my ideas. I am extremely grateful to her for her invaluable scholarly guidance, her keen interest, constant support and encouragement at all levels, which has made it possible for me to write this dissertation.

I am indebted to my former colleagues at the Dept. of English, M.S. University, Baroda, and present colleagues at the Regional Institute of English, South India, Bangalore, for their constant support, encouragement, counselling and guidance.

In particular, I wish to thank Dr. Katy Palia, former Lecturer, Dept. of English, M.S. University, Baroda for providing invaluable research insights.

I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to the Librarians and Staff of Smt. Hansa Mehta Library, Baroda, D. Horsburgh Library, RIESI, Bangalore and CIEFL Library, Hyderabad for their assistance in providing books, photocopied materials from periodicals and journals, needed for the study.

I am extremely grateful to all my students without whose cooperation, it would not have been possible for me to carry out this research.

I am particularly indebted to Ms. Alka Singhal, Lecturer. Dept. of English, M.S. University, Baroda for her assistance in collection of data.

My special thanks are also due to Mr. Dharmappa, Indian Statistical Institute, Bangalore, Ms. M. Zamruddunnisa, and Mr. Jayaram, Bangalore, for their cooperation and assistance in typing the manuscript.

I would be failing in my duty if I did not express a personal sense of gratitude towards my entire family for bearing patiently with me. It was their constant encouragement and support that has led me to complete this dissertation.

Finally, this thesis is dedicated to my students from whom I have learnt as much as I have taught.

AARATI R MUJUMDAR