

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the outset I wish to express my sincere gratitude to Profesor Mayank N. Dholakiya for his encouraging support and guidance throughout the research. My sincere thanks are due to him for facilitating and allowing me the democracy and freedom of thought as an investigator and a researcher and guiding me through critical areas and junctures of research and enabling me see some missed perspectives. It has been an enriching and rewarding experience working under him.

I also wish to express my sincere thanks and gratitude to Prof. (Dr.) M. M. Dadi for his constant support and encouragement during the course of my research. While nearing completion of this research I wish to thank Prof. (Dr.) M. M. Dadi - under whom this research saw its inception – for all help he extended me throughout the investigation.

I also wish to take this opportunity to thank the Dean and my Senior Colleagues at The Faculty of Management Studies, M. S. University of Baroda for their support, for validating my questionnaires as also for their valuable time, discussions and allowing me use of through the research. My thanks are also due to the Administrative Staff at the Faculty of Management Studies for their co-operation and support.

Industry Experts across all firms covered in the Study also owe sincere thanks for validation of questionnaires and suggestions based on which the questionnaire was suitably modified to incorporate suggestions based on their experience.

No research is complete without the involvement and participation of respondents. I wish to thank sincerely all the firms for having participated in the study especially the executives of these firms who agreed to respond patiently and painstakingly to the diverse issues related to the study. Their participation is sincerely acknowledged.

With sincere thanks I also acknowledge the contributions of Shir Vipul Kalamkar, Reader, Department of Statistics, Faculty of Science, M. S. University of Baroda, for the valuable time he spent on discussing the analysis techniques; Shri Mayank Rai and Smt. Varsha Chitania for their assistance in running the SPSS., Karnisingh, Manuvikramsingh and Riturajsingh for the time-consuming coding., Smt. Marudhar Kumiari and Shri Prakashsinghji and Shri Praveensingh and Late Shri Pradeepsingh for making my stay more than comfortable during my innumerable visits to the IIM-Ahmedabad Library, for their invaluable support and help during these visits and tolerating the odd hours I spent at the Library; my friend Ketki Mehta for introducing me to PC, Smt. And Shri Dolatrai Mehta for allowing me the use of their PC and Shri Bhavik Mehta for tolerating my intrusion on his PC time; Shri Rupen Soni of NEW ERA COMPUTER SERVICES, for the painstaking data entry, editing ., Smt. Varsha Chitania and Shri Mayank Rai and Shri Rupen Soni for the painstaking efforts and the mid-night oil they burnt doing the analysis, proofs and final prints for this Research.

The present work undeniably also is a result of the constant support and encouragement I received from my family members - parents, sister, brother, sister-in-law and neice. Thank you may be a small way of expressing the unsurmountable support extended by my family members. As a researcher it is gratifying to see the fruition of a humble beginning of a research effort especially when it comes through a providential turbulent time of four heart attacks and a leukaemia patient at home. Through his heart attack my father inquired about my research progress and prodded me to go ahead with my data collection and my brother through his battle with leukaemia pushed me with data analysis and chapter writing. This made my research attempt though painstaking and time consuming less tougher than their struggles. My mother, sister, sister-in-law and neices' constant support allowed me the perseverance through the effort. My mother remained my source of strength, conviction and inspiration that helped me retain my focus on research in the midst of all this.

I owe my sincere thanks to Ms. Vandana Chauhan for helping me with the proofs.

Thanks are thus due to my family members, friends, colleagues and well wishers for their support and co-operation extended to me, which taught me some of the finest lessons on time and perseverance and allowed me to retain my focus on research.
