

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

To work on a Ph.D topic of a socio-psychological nature is to embrace a wide-range of obligations and debts. In the first place, I wish to express my deep felt gratitude to my teacher and guide Dr. (Miss) M. Gon, M.A. Ph.D. (Alberta), Reader, Department of Psychology, M.S. University of Baroda, under whose encouraging, insightful and critical but invaluable guidance this thesis could reach its completion and who left a most profound influence on the end product.

I am grateful to Prof. D.B. Desai, Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology, Prof. A.S. Patel, formerly, Head of the Department of Psychology and Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology and Dr. N.S. Pathak, Head of the Department of Psychology, M.S. University of Baroda, for allowing me all the possible research and administrative facilities to carryout the work and for their constant encouragement.

My brief association with Prof. Udai Pareek and his valuable suggestions have played an immense role in shaping my ideas, even though I have not been able to work upon many of his suggestions due to some limitations at my end. Prof. Pulcin Garg from Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad, and Dr. V.P. Sharma, Director, Psychology Unit and Shri Sumant Mazumdar, Director, Post-Graduate Studies in Mental Health from B.M. Institute, Ahmedabad were very generous to spare their time and gave me insightful clues about cultural milieu of Gujarat. Dr. G.C. Rai, Prof. of Psychology at Udaipur University gave a few critical comments on the work which brought refinement of the text. I am grateful to all of them.

It is not possible to identify all those sources whose ideas have directly or indirectly influenced me, but to help me in the task of keeping errors to a minimum I have greatly benefitted from the generosity of a friend who have read critically the parts of the manuscript, and who have made many excellent suggestions for its improvement, I am most grateful to Mr. K.N. Ojha, Senior Psychologist at B.M. Institute of Mental Health, Ahmedabad for this.

Special appreciation is expressed to Mr. S.K. Verma and Mrs. Saroj Verma for their help in more than a way and to Mr. H.D. Arya for helping me in the statistical analysis.

Many colleagues and friends have offered suggestions, criticisms and encouragement, to all of them got my thanks and love eventhough I have not been able to name everyone individually. Whatever, its weaknesses now, they would have been much greater without their help. It goes without saying that I assume full responsibility for whatever deficiencies still exist.

In the last but not the least I am extremely grateful to the subjects who spared their time and energy and responded to my request very co-operatively. Appreciation is also gratefully acknowledged to Mr. Fernadiz, librarian at B.M. Institute of Mental Health, Ahmedabad and Mr. Thomas, librarian at National Labour Institute, New Delhi and their staff for co-operation and help and to the person who typed this thesis but wants to remain unidentified. Finally, I don't know what should I say to my eldest brother Shri N.S. Vagrecha for his inspiration and support specially during crisis and to my wife Vimla and Children, Kamal and Alok whose patience and understanding have been nothing sort of miraculous.

Y. S. Vagrecha

Y.S. VAGRECHA

Baroda

May 1980