

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost I would like to extend my sincere and heartfelt gratitude to my guide Dr. Sarjoo Patel for her unwavering guidance, invaluable insights and constant encouragement throughout my research journey. It was truly a blessing to have her as my mentor. Her dedication and patience have been invaluable, shaping not just my journey but also fostering personal growth. I am profoundly grateful for her wisdom that she generously shared.

I am indebted to the Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda for providing resources, facilities and conducive environment to conduct the research. I thank the Dean of the Faculty of Family and Community Sciences, faculties of the Department of Family and Community Resource Management and all the external experts for periodically reviewing my work and providing insightful suggestions that greatly enhanced the quality of the work. I also thank the non-teaching staff for making important resources and instruments available to me in a timely manner. My sincere appreciation goes to the management of Vanita Vishram Women's University and my friends and colleagues who provided encouragement and support during the challenging phases of this research.

I thank the owners of the diamond polishing units who gave me necessary permissions to conduct the research in their premises. I also thank the diamond polishers for being extremely patient and cooperative during the data collection phase.

I want to take a moment and extend my warmest thanks to Ms. Smita who is a wonderful batchmate and was a constant support throughout my journey. Keeping me updated with all the paperwork and formalities at the university, she has been very helpful. Special thank you to Ms. Khyati and Ms. Vashima for providing constructive feedback on the research chapters and helping me improvise. I am grateful to Mr. Ramya and Ms. Kamya for providing me the necessary help in the timely completion of the statistical analysis.

I am extremely fortunate to have parents who always believed in me and showed great pride in all my achievements. My parents, Mrs. Alka Kharkia and Mr. Ratan Kharkia have been my constant pillar of support and encouragement throughout the way. My brother Arpit has always been there and cooled me down during stressful situations. I am also grateful for my wonderful in-laws, Mrs. Kunti Agarwal and Mr. Ashok Agarwal, for supporting me and understanding my challenges.

My loving husband Mr. Parag Agarwal has been very encouraging, supportive, understanding and affectionate. He has literally been my light as well as punching bag when times were tough. I can't thank him enough for taking out time from his busy schedule and accompanying me to the innumerable trips to the polishing industries and patiently waiting for me until I finished my work. I am lucky to have my son, little Kabir, in my life as he has been the nicest and sweetest child during the research phase. He was the least demanding, most accommodating and always uplifted my energies through his sweet smiles and gestures.

I thank the almighty for granting me the strength, wisdom, and perseverance to embark on and complete this journey of academic pursuit.

Lastly, I express my deepest gratitude to all those whose names may not appear here but have played a significant role in this endeavour.
