

In Appreciation

Foremost My gratitude goes to the Almighty God for his protection and guidance throughout my academic endeavor. I am also grateful to various institutions and individuals who have assisted me in making this thesis successful. Firstly, my sincere gratitude goes to my supervisor, Prof. Umesh Naik, without whom this work would not have been materialized. I express my gratitude to the Department of Economics Research Committee members (DRC) Prof. Sanjiv Joshi, Prof. V.M. Rao, Prof Aashir Mehta, Prof Nanavati, Prof B.S. Katawala, and Prof. Sarah Ahmed for the critical and creative comments from the very beginning of my study. I wish to acknowledge the contribution of these special people to my academic career, Mr. Manjit Banga, Mr. Rakesh Pandya, Prof Bansal, and Mrs. Neeta Baloni. I also thank administrative staff, Hansa Mehta library staff and all the research colleagues.

Above all I thank all the Respondents of Dang District without their cooperation, this study would not have been possible .I would like to show my gratitude to my Enumerator all those who have helped me greatly in data collection. It was because of their support that I could complete my fieldwork at the earliest. Moreover, I received good cooperation from all the commercial banks and DRDA office for discussions on banking aspects of microfinance beneficiaries.

Last but not the least; I owe gratitude to my family and friends who continuously supported me. This study would not have been possible without their help.
