Acknowledgements

First, I sincerely express my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. Deeptha Achar for her guidance, encouragement, kindness and generosity. Her fruitful comments and insightful suggestions have been a crucial influence on the present study. She has supported me in every possible way since the beginning of my research. Her critical and careful reading of my writing has saved me from many errors. Without her guidance and encouragement, my research would never have come out in the present form.

I am also thankful to Dr. Ramesh Chandra Parmar, (President, Dalit Panthers, Gujarat) who allowed me the use of his library as well as to lent me many books on the Dalit movement in Gujarat. He has not just lent me books but also explained to me in detail how the Dalit Panthers Movement started in Gujarat in 1975, its achievements and links with the present day form of the Dalit movement in Gujarat. The present form the study is possible just because of his kind support.

I would like to thank Valjibhai Patel and Rajesh Solanki for their valuable critical remarks whenever I got stuck in theoretical issues regarding the development of the Dalit movement.

I am also thankful to the patrons of the Gujarat Dalit Sahitya Akademi, Ahmedabad for their full support and encouragement.

I sincerely acknowledge the efforts of Praveen Gadhvi, Harish Mangalam, Arvind Vegda, Madhukant Kalpit, B. N. Vankar, Mohan Parmar, Yashvant Vaghela and Shankar Painter in filling up the important literary gaps.

I am also thankful to Dalpat Chauhan and Neerav Patel for valuable intellectual leads.

I am grateful to Arvind Parmar, Dalit Panthers activist, Vadodara and late Kardam Bhatt for their critical inputs on the Dalit movement in Gujarat.

I am also thankful to Dr. Sudarshan Iyengar, Vice Chancellor, Gujarat Vidyapith, Ahmedabad for sharing his views on Gandhi and Ambedkar and also for motivation.

I would also extend my special thanks to Prof. Lajwanti Chatani, Amarendra Pandey, Nitesh Chaudhari and Mrunal Chavda for discussing my drafts at different points of time.

I am also grateful to my all my teachers of the Dept. of English especially Prof. M. F. Salat, Dr. N. K. Dakorwala and Dr. Aarati Mujumdar for their constant support and encouragement.

I am also thankful to Dr. Rajiv Patel, Coordinator, Mahadev Desai Gramseva Mahavidyalaya, Randheja for granting me critical leave in the final stage of my writing.

I am thankful to the library staff of various libraries especially the Central Library, Gujarat Vidyapith, Ahmedabad; Mahadev Desai Gramseva Mahavidyalaya Library, Randheja, the Centre for Social Studies Library, Surat and the D.R.S. Library, Dept. of English, M.S. University of Baroda.

I also express sincere thanks to my friends especially Dr. M. B. Gaijan, Dr. Chandrakant Langare, Dr. Vijay Nagannawar, Dr. Arjun Patel and Mrunal Chavda, for their moral and intellectual support.

I must thank Amarendra Pandey and Nitesh Chaudhary for patient proofreading and correction work.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the people who mean world to me. I owe and respectfully offer my thanks to my noble parents for their constant moral support and mellifluous love which helped me to achieve success in every sphere of life and without their kind devotion this thesis would have been a sheer dream.

I express my deepest gratitude to my sister Jyotsnaben and her family, my brother Manoj and his family who gave me moral strength to strive towards my goal.

I am also deeply grateful to my father-in-law Laljibhai Makwana and mother-in-law Amarben, and all the family members of my sister-in-laws and brother-in-laws for their constant support and encouragement.

I would like to acknowledge my son Aditya who has been patiently waiting for me to join his games.

At the end I would like express appreciation to my beloved wife Devika who spent sleepless nights with and was always my support in the moments when there was no one to answer my queries. I once again thank her for her faithful support during the final stages of this Ph.D.
