

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I feel deeply indebted to my erudite supervisor, Dr. Chitranjan Narain Daftuar, who ungrudgingly snatched time off his busy schedules to guide this work to a successful completion. Without his inspiring and active and constructive help throughout, this work would never have seen the light of the day.

I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. N.S.Pathak, Dean of the Faculty of Education and Psychology, for his valuable advice and encouragement at various stages of the work. Thanks are also due to Prof.(Miss) M.Gon, Head of the Department of Psychology for her occasional advice and encouragement.

I have special words of thanks for Prof. Ram Chandra Prasad (Retired), of the Department of Psychology, Patna University, Patna (Bihar) for his initial words of advice which motivated me to undertake this particular piece of research.

I am highly thankful to all the Principals/Headmasters/teachers of the various schools who facilitated the collection of data from their students.

A lot of thanks are due to Mr. Shrikant Sinha (U.S.A.), my brother-in-law, for his help in computer processing of the data and to Dr. Ajit Kumar for his help in data collection in Kanke, Ranchi (Bihar). I also thank the staff of the Computer Centre of the M.S.University of Baroda for part-processing of the data.

Thanks are due also to the Headmaster and the teachers of my school, who by work sharing, and to the authorities of the Education Department of the Government of Bihar, by granting study leave, facilitated the completion of this project.

And, above all, I owe a great deal to my husband for his incessant help, encouragement and inspiration; to my sons, Dr. Harish Chandra and Manish Chandra, for assistance in all possible ways; to my brothers-in-law Shri B.N.Sinha and Shri Ram Ratan Sinha for trouble-shooting at times of difficulties of various sorts; and also to Shrimati Manju Daftuar for providing me encouragement from time to time. For all of them no words of thanks would be enough.

In this kind of work, it is impossible to name all those numerous people and students who helped me on various occasions and in various ways in completion of the project. Nevertheless, my heartfelt thanks go to them.
