

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my deep gratitude to my guide Dr. R.K. Parlikar for extending all assistance and guidance which has enabled me to complete this work. Most gratefully, I also wish to express my thanks to Prof. N.S. Pathak, Head, Department of Psychology, M.S. University, for all the help, advice and critical comments on various aspects of the thesis.

I am greatly indebted to Dr. Kuldip Kumar, Reader, Educational Psychology Unit, NCERT for giving most unsparingly his time, understanding and knowledge during all phases of this work.

I am thankful to Dr. Evelyn Marr, Reader, Department of Teacher Education, NCERT and Prof. R.G. Misra, Head, Measurement and Evaluation Unit, NCERT, for their suggestions and clarifications on various aspects of this investigation.

I am also grateful to Mr. K.P. Garg for the invaluable help offered by him, particularly in statistical analysis, and to Mr. O.P. Arora for computerization of the Data.

Had it not been for study leave granted by National Council of Educational Research and Training, this work would still remain unfinished, I owe my thanks to the authorities for granting me this leave.

I would also like to acknowledge McGraw-Hill, Inc. for permitting me to use and adapt the Career Maturity Inventory and all the school Principals and students for their co-operation during data collection.

My thanks are also due to other friends and colleagues who, by their interest or encouragement, advice or criticism, have helped me in this work.

With deepest gratitude, I wish to acknowledge the immense co-operation and understanding of my mother-in-law, husband and children, all of whom, in their unique ways have contributed significantly to this work. Finally, I would not miss the opportunity to appreciate the inspiration and encouragement given to me by my parents for the completion of this work.

July, 1981

Nirmala Agarwal